

Zagadnienia do egzaminu magisterskiego 2016/17 z seminarium z językoznawstwa kontrastywnego angielsko-polskiego), II rok, specjalizacja językoznawstwo angielskie.

I. Language universals and language variation

1. Linguistic macrovariation and microvariation (language, dialect, sociolect, idiolect, style, register, jargon, accent, patois, argot).

2. Linguistically constrained vs. linguistically unconstrained variation. Linguistic variable. Microvariation in a socially realistic linguistics.

3. Language variation in the history of linguistics.

4. Language universals in 20th-century linguistics.

5. Classification of languages.

II. Selected issues in English-Polish contrastive linguistics I

6. Selected phonological contrasts. Phonological transfer.

7. Lexical morphology of English and Polish in contrast: plain morphology.

8. Lexical morphology of English and Polish in contrast: expressive morphology.

9. Language contact: borrowing and code switching/mixing.

10. Language contact: the influence of English on the Polish electronic media.

III. Selected issues in English - Polish contrastive linguistics II

11. Number and countability in English and Polish.

12. Modelling (un)countability in linguistic theory.

13. Lexical aspect vs. grammatical aspect.

14. Gradability in English and Polish: adjectives and their scales.

15. Emotions in English and Polish.

Literatura

Aarts, B. and A. McMahon. 2006. The handbook of English linguistics. Blackwell.

Campbell, L. 2007. The history of linguistics. In Handbook of linguistics, Blackwell Reference Online.

Dziwirek, K.; B. Lewandowska-Tomaszczyk. 2010. Complex emotions and grammatical mismatches. A contrastive corpus-based study. De Gruyter Mouton.

Hudson, R. A. 1996. Sociolinguistics. Cambridge: CUP. 21-72.

Mańczak, E. Angielsko-polskie kontakty językowe. Kraków: WUJ.

Nagórko, A. 1998. Zarys gramatyki polskiej. Warszawa: PWN.

Sussex, R. and P. Cubberley. 2006. The Slavic languages. Cambridge: CUP

Szymanek, B. 2010. A panorama of Polish word-formation. Lublin: Wydawnictwo KUL.

Wardhaugh, R. 2006. An introduction to sociolinguistics. Blackwell.

Willim, E. 2006. Event, individuation and countability. Kraków WUJ.

For additional reading material for the MA exam, please consult the supervisor.