

Pragmatyka

1. Pragmatics as a study of language usage in context. Types of context
2. Deictic categories and their flexibility
3. Concept of speech acts according to John Searle and their classification
4. Cooperation principle and maxims of conversation in Gricean and neo-Gricean
5. approach
6. Theory of relevance
7. Various approaches to politeness and face.
8. Conversation analysis as a methodology of research
9. Principles of empirical research in pragmatics

Komunikacja międzykulturowa

10. Intercultural communication as a field of research
11. Barriers to effective communication across cultures
12. The impact of verbal and nonverbal communication on intercultural misunderstanding.
13. G. Hofstede's cultural dimension
14. Linguistic relativity
15. Stereotypes and stereotyping
16. Milton Rokeach and Geert Hofstede: researching values and attitudes
17. Intercultural competence.

Seminarium (WCH)

18. Image schemas and linguistics meaning
19. Radial categorization and word meaning
20. Metaphor and metonymy and their mutual relations. Metonymy in discourse
21. Meaning construction and mental spaces. Conceptual blending
22. Dictionary meaning versus encyclopedic meaning. Frame semantics
23. Fictivity and subjectification in discourse
24. Natural Semantic Metalanguage
25. Usage-based approach to language study
26. Space as a fundamental dimension of language study: Forced dynamics
27. Iconicity in language